

CASSINI ANXIOUS TO SEE PRESIDENT

Russian Ambassador Delays Departure to Discuss Relations Between the Countries.

CZAR STIRRED BY CRITICISM.

Report Current at Capital That Special Meeting of Cabinet Is Called to Take Up Manchurian Situation.

REPORT SPECIAL.

Washington, June 5.—Count Cassini, the Russian Ambassador, will call upon President Roosevelt, and the subject of their conference will be Russo-American relations.

The anti-Russian sentiment aroused in the United States by agitation over the situation in Manchuria is a serious problem between the nations. Protest by the United States against this matter of Russian internal government would doubtless weaken sentiment from Russia. This is realized here, yet the further consideration of anti-Russian feeling threatens to undermine the long-standing cordial national feeling between Russia and the United States. Calm discussion of the entire situation will undoubtedly do much in the direction of preventing anything of this kind.

CABINET TO DISCUSS MANCHURIAN SITUATION.

There is some current thought an immediate report that the cabinet will take up immediately the Manchurian situation, and that Secretary Roosevelt, who is in the city, will call upon the President to discuss the situation.

Secretary Hay called at the White House this morning and discussed with the President the Manchurian situation and the Russian agitation. He has been in the city for several days, and has been in the city for several days, and has been in the city for several days.

DELAYS DEPARTURE TO SEE PRESIDENT.

Count Cassini has delayed his departure from Washington to see the President, and many persons here are inclined to believe he may deliver to the President a message from the czar himself.

The agitation over the Manchurian disturbance is a serious problem between the nations. It is a matter of great importance, and it is a matter of great importance. It is a matter of great importance, and it is a matter of great importance.

FLOODS HAVE BAD EFFECT ON THE COUNTRY'S TRADE.

Otherwise, According to Dun's Review, Business Conditions Are Generally Favorable.

BRADSTREET'S SAYS THAT FAILURES ARE FEW—BULLISHNESS OF STOCK SPECULATION NOTED.

New York, June 5.—Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade to-morrow will say: "The elements of the only unfavorable developments of the week, and while these may not prove so serious as they first appeared, the result is seen in greater conservatism."

Disasters resulting from conditions at the leading cities are generally considered. Railways earnings in May were 12.5 per cent greater than last year, and 24.4 per cent greater than in 1901. There is still an inclination to defer the placing of contracts for iron and steel.

The United States steel corporation has bought 10,000 tons of iron, chiefly for delivery during the third quarter, but the recent improvement of quotations has not stimulated special activity in the industry. There is, on the contrary, a disposition for further conservatism, and buyers are disposed to get the full benefit.

The importations are no longer encouraged, and domestic producers are not inclined to accept more export orders than was possible when home markets were under great pressure. Railway improvements and extensions are again under consideration and much work will be done when confidence shall be restored regarding the latest situation.

Textile industries show no material improvement. Sales of cotton goods are unwilling to accept the prices offered. There is little disposition to accept the prices offered. There is little disposition to accept the prices offered.

Conditions as to wheat goods are practically unchanged. Domestic consumption is not expected to be much greater than last year. The average of domestic sales is again higher, and the United States is expected to be much greater than last year.
